Subject: Permission to post article

Dear Mr. Roberts

I am contacting you on behalf of Dr. Jennifer Blue, a contributing author to Science Scope. Dr. Blue has authorized me to email you on her behalf. I understand that you may need to forward this email, and you should feel free to do so. Alternately, please feel free to reply to me with the name and email address of the correct contact person.

Dr. Blue would like to deposit the full text of the article listed below into Miami University's Scholarly Commons, Miami's institutional repository at <http://sc.lib.miamioh.edu>. The Scholarly Commons is a not-for-profit digital repository for scholarly work created by faculty at Miami University. It helps make their research and scholarship available to a wider audience and helps assure its long-term preservation.

The record of each item includes the complete citation for the published version, along with a URL linking back to the publisher page. The article for which I am seeking permission is:

Jennifer Blue & Debra Gann (2008) When Do Girls Lose Interest in Math and Science? Science Scope 32(2), 44-47.

We prefer to archive the final pdf version as it appears in print. The final pdf version has an advantage over the author's own version, in that it maintains consistency in appearance wherever it is read.

Could you please email me your permission for the article listed above along with any associated conditions? If it would be possible to use the published pdf version of the chapter, then please confirm this.

Thank you for your time and attention, and I look forward to hearing from you. I will follow up with you during the week of May 9th if I have not heard from you by then.

Best Regards,

Matthew M. Benzing
